"A ministry with the world in its view and the church in its heart."

November, December, 2018

Dear Pastor, Church and Friends,

With the approach of the end of 2018 comes a busyness in the office here at All Points Baptist Mission which we experience at no other time of year. Jon Black, our office manager, must arrange to get the December monthly support out to all the missionaries in spite of the hubbub and closures associated with the holidays. Then as we roll into January there is all the IRS type things that must be cared for. Mind you, I am certainly not complaining about this. It is such a privilege to be involved in what God is doing with this ministry. We project that we will handle $2.6 million in missionary support for 2018. Not bad for what started out, what seems like, only a few years ago, at a picnic table at Open Door Baptist Church in Clermont, Florida. Of course, we do not charge the missionaries anything for handling their support. We pass on 100 % of support received, unless otherwise instructed.

2018 has been an awesome year! We have received reports of wonderful conversions of sinners to Christ. New missionaries and chaplains have joined with APBM and new churches have been started. At APBM we earnestly promote the philosophy that a church plant is to be done in such a way that it will become autonomous/indigenous. We do not believe that a mission church ought to continue to be funded/pastored by an American missionary indefinitely. To me, this is a foregone conclusion, but it seems to be a forgotten principle nowadays.

Looking forward to 2019, I am reminded that the mission challenge, as it lies upon the doorstep of the church, is greater than ever before in the history of the world. If you Google "World Population Clock," you will be amazed at the rapid rate of birth. We ought to get serious about The Great Commission before we realize too late, that we have done too little. Yes, "Even so, come Lord Jesus," but may we be found faithful when He appears.

God bless you. We love you and thank you for the continuing support and for special gifts sent in December.

Pressing on,
